

THE BAKER CENTER
FOR CHILDREN AND FAMILIES

Clinical Training Practicum in School-Based Mental Health and Special Education

Summary

The Baker Center for Children and Families (previously Judge Baker Children's Center), a Harvard Medical School Affiliate, is accepting applications for a one (1) year clinical trainee placement. BCCF is an established center of excellence for implementation, training, quality improvement, and service initiatives focused on improving behavioral health for children and adolescents. BCCF is also home of the Manville School, a therapeutic day school for students from kindergarten through 10th grade who experience emotional, neurological, or learning difficulties that have impacted their ability to succeed in previous school settings. Manville has a strong tradition of providing innovative educational programming and comprehensive, evidence-based clinical services. As a result of the integration of these service components, Manville is a school where students with challenging needs can experience academic success, social development, and emotional growth.

The trainee will carry a caseload of up to 4 students enrolled in the Manville School by the end of the year. As clinicians and case managers for these students, the trainee will provide clinical support via individual therapy, group therapy, consultation and/or classroom push-ins depending on a student's need and current presentation. Trainees will also support the delivery of a social-emotional learning curriculum that is based in evidence-based practices and incorporates topics related to identity and diversity. In addition, family contact is essential and often clinically indicated, and may include parent training and formal family therapy. In the role of case manager, trainees will coordinate the service planning and service delivery of a student's interdisciplinary Manville team. The Manville team consists of staff from various disciplines who are working with the student and their parents/guardians. Each team member contributes a unique perspective regarding the student's educational, behavioral, social, and/or emotional functioning. The trainee also facilitates communication between Manville staff and any outside providers working with the child and family. The case manager role will be supported in individual and group supervision with other psychology and social work trainees. Trainees have the opportunity to further develop relationship skills through these contacts and interventions. This practicum placement also includes opportunities for psychological assessment as part of student's three-year re-evaluations for special education services. All trainees are supervised by a licensed, full-time Manville clinician (either a psychologist or social worker), and participate in various training activities during the course of the practicum.
